Awning Windows

What is an Awning Window? — Awning windows are top-hinged to swing outward. Our top-hinged windows are designed to be very easy to operate. And, these beautiful, high-quality awning windows bring abundant airflow and lots of natural light into even the smallest spaces.

For smaller rooms, or those in which privacy is the priority, a smaller window style may work better than the larger windows that work well in bigger spaces in your home. See the wide selection of Energy Shield awning windows designed to fit perfectly in bathrooms, or utility spaces. Some of the spectacular benefits of awning windows for your home include:

- Versatility — Awning windows are incomparably versatile. Energy Shield's uniquely beautiful and practical awning windows can be paired with larger windows for unique combination window arrangements in bigger rooms, or featured as stand-alone windows in smaller spaces.
- Design Feature — Stunning low-profile sash designs let the flow of natural light and fresh air pour into the room, while adding an upscale interior design element.
- Energy-Efficiency — All Energy Shield awning windows are highly energy-efficient. Several glass and chamber types are available, so you can choose options that best suit your needs and budget.
- Security — The welded frame of our awning windows is built for high performance. Your awning window stays securely fixed in place while open. And, it provides security while closed. The durable locking mechanism provides added security against unwanted entry.
- Warranty — Energy Shield provides a limited lifetime warranty on every awning window installation, allowing you to enjoy your high-quality windows worry-free for many years to come.

Casement Windows

What is a Casement Window? — Casement windows are designed with sashes that open vertically by turning a handle. Energy Shield casement windows fully open to the 90 degree position, allowing entirely unobstructed ventilation. Our gorgeous casement windows make a style statement in your home. Casement windows are ideal for locations that are hard to reach.
